Folded Nature. A note

Folded Nature translates leaves, birds, shells and flowers into faceted forms, as if each had been creased from a single sheet. The planes are broad and the angles generous, so every piece catches light cleanly and remains robust as a hand-laid fiberglass shell.

Ivory plaster is applied in several thin mineral coats and hand-sanded so that each facet reads as a flat, chalky plane with a barely visible trowel grain. Edges are kept crisp but never sharp, and the sealed matte surface stays clean in high-traffic hospitality settings.
